"Developing the Christian Mind — Learning in Community with Integrity"

I hope that this year has been a good one for you. It certainly has been a great one for the university! From the dormitory apartments on the Lakewood campus to the "barracks" at our beautiful Foothills site, the university has been bursting with energy and optimism for the future.

Although our predecessor colleges date back to the early part of the century, Colorado Christian University is new. Only as recently as 1989 did the parts come together. We have been growing ever since!

Today, you have been able to enjoy professors proficient and productive in their fields. We have all been thrilled with our NCAA teams, often competitive and winners in the sports in which we participate. Tomorrow--who knows? We have a great opportunity in representing the educated Christian community in Denver.

Our desire for you, this year, has been to provide an educational experience--one that has challenged you and demanded your very best. We hope that you have grown intellectually and expanded in your cultural awareness and spiritual insights. CCU is about developing the Christian mind. We have tried to exemplify the teachings of Jesus Christ in our relationships with you--and you, in turn, have been a delight! Truly, CCU students are special. What a great group of friends you are!

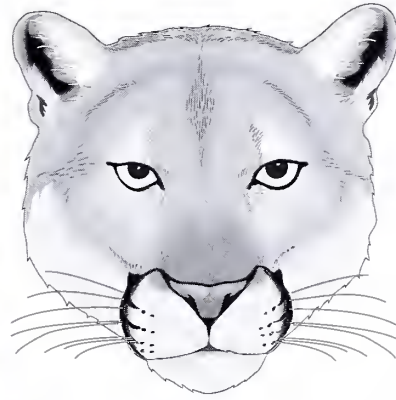

Sincerely,

Ronald R. Schmidt, President

HISTORY

Of Colorado Christian

Colorado Christian has been known by a variety of names. Though the name may have changed, the goal of this school has remained the same—to provide a Christian education.

The CCU field house is the home of the Cougars' basketball and volleyball teams.

Viewing Beckman Center from the pond. This building houses a majority of the classrooms along with faculty offices.

The Bridge around the CCU lake connects the residential with the academic side of campus

The Aspen Building, finished this summer, added two more classrooms and faculty offices.

Newly painted dorms house many CCU students.

A recently finished new addition to the CCU campus is the clock tower.

After word got out about this photograph, junior Jason Wright receives several offers to appear in extremely sexy Kool-Aid commercials, music videos and "Barney" ads.

While fighting to be "most polite" at the drinking fountain, Gus Gill and Jenn Rowe pause to smile for this picture.

Rain, wind, sleet nor snow can stop sophomore Jason Cassanova from a chance to impress the babes as they walk by with his manly pectorals and dark sunglasses.

Wide eyed, hair flying and mouth a gap, junior Andrew Baker reveals to his audience what can happen to anyone who attends an exhilarating C.C.U. basketball game.

Soccer players, Matt Mills, Daymon Couvillon, James Diedrich, demonstrate the secret to winning a soccer match. "No pain, no gain!"

This CCU student has had a hard day! Overall, "Frosty" has enjoyed living on campus, but he dreads the coming of Spring. Wonder why?

Shades, smile, and snow up to his arms, Trent Murry thinks to himself "that's right, I'm bad."

Students Tony Dekroom, Blagoi Stoyanov, Trent Murry, Serena Orrego, and David Becker stand in awe as they catch a glimpse of what they thought was BIG FOOT.

With a sophisticated grin, Matt Helton ponders over the idea. I'm too sexy for my goggles, too sexy for my hat, too sexy for my snowboard, too sexy for my pack . . .

Looking rather inquisitive and posing for his own picture, senior David Becker takes a close-up facial shot of himself before plowing down the next steep grade.

Ski Club member Damon Couvillon shows off the wax on his skis as he prepares for a half twist and a, Ahhhhhhhh, wipe out!

Basking in the sun, relaxing her sore muscles and posing for snap-shots are a few of the things senior Serena Orrego does best!

After receiving cash endorsements from the American Dental Association, sophomore, Casey Batson exhibits the importance of brushing, flossing, and rinsing properly.

Sneaking in from the back sliding door was one of the ways Jason Cassanova greeted his buds. Sometimes you just have to be different, replies Jason.

The strong smell of formaldehyde and sight of a dissection bring about great appetites in Jamie Wagoner and Marty Young.

Alright, Who took my sock? "I'm missing a sock!", says Holly Temp victim of the laundry room so monster.

PROJECT DARE

Dare to Care began five years ago in the heart of a young freshman girl who saw the need for an outlet for C.C.U. students to be of service to the community. The goal is to touch the world around them with the hands of Jesus.

"If you spend yourselves in behalf of the hungry and satisfy the needs of the oppressed, then your light will rise in the darkness. You will be called Repairer of Broken Walls, Restorer of Streets with Dwellings"

One of Dare to Care's biggest projects is the Homeless Camp-out. Each Spring members of the organization gather cardboard boxes and meet in the school courtyard to begin a three day, two night stay.

Last year the boxes that the Dare to Care members slept in were vandalized with water. Morning soon came and Friday was spent fasting and serving food at the Salvation Army. Friday night was spent in time of prayer and worship. Friday night was cold and wet and the campers were anxious to return to their apartments that next morning. The experience was not totally accurate of what the homeless endure, but the event was life changing. Dare to Care also works with AIDS patients, Children's Hospital, pregnant teenagers, juvenile delinquents, inner-city children, and the elderly.

Professor David Williams heads up CCU's Academy of Philosophers.

Deann Hower, Jill Killinger, and Liane Evenson gear up to hit the slopes during the Ski Club's trip to Breckenridge.

CCU's first men's club volleyball team swung into action this Spring with James Beasley as coach.

Students gather on a Monday night at a Fellowship of Christian Athletes meeting.

West Side Ministries travels into the heart of Denver each week to disciple inner city children of all ages.

Mike Galindo, Doctor Oakley, Professor Rosemary Snellman, Andy Baker, Christy Frisbie, Heidi Steinbeck and Karen Smith are all business at recent Biology Club meeting. NOT!!!

In friendly conversation, Steve Amen and Mrs. Linda Rush converse over "important matters".

Steve Amen, President of S.G.A., lead CCU's student body through the hectic and trialsome times of the 1993-94 school year.

his year Student Government was dedicated to promoting integrity by encouraging students to grow spiritually, intellectually, physically, and socially. It was our goal to encourage students as a body to be examples of Christ to the world.

It is crucial that we be realistic and objective in becoming educated and prepared for the present world in which we live. This involves knowing why we trust in Christ, gaining a clear understanding of Biblical Christianity, developing the ability to present and defend true beliefs, becoming informed about world issues, and giving a response which is not offensive, attacking or controlling in nature. Our responses should be initiated by God through a devotion to prayer and the scriptures.

Student Government Association

Our objectives this year involved servant leadership, clear communication between students and the University, and the enhancement of fellowship in our community. Through the Party and Activities Crew events, Senate Committees, and Executive Council direction, we did our best to serve you.

We wish you the best in your pursuits and hope that you will remember what God has done for you here at CCU.

PROGRAM ACTIVITIES CREW

What is PAC? Throughout the year, you probably saw the initials around campus, but you may not know what they stand for. PAC is the Party and Activity Crew. PAC began last year in conjunction with SGA (Student Government Association). The purpose of PAC is to provide students with social activities throughout the year. This year's activities sponsored by PAC/SGA were the Back To School BBQ, Kid's Carnival, Homecoming Banquet, Exam Study Break, the Valentines Extravaganza, O'Mally's Alley (lip sync contest), Comedy Sports (impromptu comedy team), and the End of the Year Bash. PAC consists of a team of 4 positions: Director, Promotions, Decorations, & Details. Jodi Elliott, a senior, was this year's Director. Rachel Nelson, a freshman, is in charge of promoting events. The decorations are handled by Mandi Yost, a freshman, and details of each event are taken care of by Andrea Wilson, a junior. PAC has offered wonderful opportunities to students, faculty, and the community.

Thanks to our Jostens representative Mary Barnes for your persistence and jubilance. The room was brightened by your presence.

A very special thank you goes out to our ever so patient advisor Brent Baker. Your insight and impressive yearbook knowledge compelled us, your dedicated staff, to excel and produce a quality publication. It is our hope that this yearbook will revive and renew a fading CCU tradition. Thank you for believing in us. We dedicate Reminiscence 1994 to you.

The Colophon

A staff of eleven produced Colorado Christian University's 1994 Reminiscence. The 40 page book was printed by Jostens Printing and Publishing of Topeka, KS. Two hundred copies were sewn and printed on glossy paper and distributed on May 16, 1994. Primary fonts used were Helvetica and Palatino and each section was assigned and completed by an individual staff member. The book was produced on a Gateway 2000 4DX2-66V, using Aldus PageMaker 5.0 and Corel Draw 4.0. CCU students were charged $15.00 per book.
